Greene County 2022 Tax Sale

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. – The Greene County 2022 Tax Sale will be held on Monday, August 22, at 10 a.m. in Room 212 of the Greene County Historic Courthouse located at 940 N. Boonville Avenue in Springfield.

In preparation for the sale, Collector Allen Icet and his staff worked to make contact with as many property owners as possible to ensure that parties were aware of their rights and the steps necessary to prevent auction.

This process involved making hundreds of phone calls, as well as letters mailed to all parties named within a title search. In March of this year, nearly one thousand parcels were reported as eligible for sale. As of August 17, that number has been reduced to less than one hundred and fifty.

By reaching out to property owners, it is the intention of the Collector's Office to educate individuals so that the process may be as transparent and approachable as possible.

The Collector's Office will not attempt to make in-person contact at a residence regarding the status of unpaid or paid real estate or personal taxes. Any persons claiming to be officers of the county should be reported to the authorities.

The Collector's Office will never attempt to collect payment over the phone or at a residence, nor will staff ask for social security numbers, birth dates, or other private information.

If you have questions about the validity of any person contacting you by any method, please reach out to the Collector's Office directly at 417-868-4036 to confirm. Collector staff can also be reached regarding the tax sale by emailing taxsale@greencountymo.gov.
