Sign up for online filing of Personal Property Assessment Lists

Rick Kessinger, Greene County Assessor, is pleased to announce the beginning of the sign up period for individuals desiring to file their 2013 Personal Property Assessment Lists online. Next year will be the first time online filing of individual assessment lists will be available in Greene County. At this time, business owners will continue to file their assessment lists in the regular fashion.

To sign up for online filing, go to the Greene County website at <http://www.greenecountymo.org> and click on "Assessor" on the left side of the page. When the Assessor page appears, click on "Online Registration" to register.

"I am very excited to be able to offer the online filing option to personal property owners! In addition to being easier and more convenient for the owners, it will result in a significant savings of taxpayer dollars," Kessinger said.

In January 2013, individuals will receive their pre-printed assessment lists with an online identification number printed on the form. The property owner may then choose to mail in the paper form or file online. It is very important to select only one method of filing to avoid duplication. If you choose to file online beginning in 2013, you will receive only a postcard in subsequent years rather than a paper assessment list.
