

About the Every Child project

The Springfield News-Leader has launched a public-service journalism project to focus public attention on critical challenges facing children, foster discussion and build on existing initiatives. Please take a minute to review these great stories. The first link will take you to an article about what to do if you suspect abuse or neglect written by a supervisor for the Greene County Juvenile Office. The second link will take you to several stories regarding Child Safety. Enjoy and happy reading!
