Discussion:

Scattered showers and storms could redevelop across the area by this afternoon and evening. If enough instability develops, a few storms could produce wind gusts up to 60 mph and hail to 1 inch. Cloud to ground lightning is also possible. The highest potential for a severe storm is along and S of I-44. Additional scattered showers and storms are possible overnight. Additional flooding is possible today and tonight if slow moving showers and storms develop. Chances of showers and storms will occur on an almost daily basis across the area this week. The potential for severe weather and flooding will depend on the location of storms. However, many locations will see several rounds of rainfall over the next week.

Citizen Action Statement:

- Have a severe weather shelter plan! Review emergency kit and identify closest safe shelter.
- Have a way of receiving severe weather warnings (NOAA Weather Radio, social media, news media, etc.)
- Take shelter when lightning is in the area! "When thunder roars...go indoors!"
- Citizens with outdoor recreational plans along area rivers and streams should be alert for the potential for lightning strikes and rapidly rising water levels. "Turn around...don't drown!"

Emergency Management Issues:

- OEM is monitoring "WxNet" (B-15) on Greene County 800 TRS
- Springfield-Greene County EOC is currently at OpCon Level 3: Monitoring
