Discussion

A storm system will spread a wintry mix of snow, sleet, rain, and freezing rain into the region from the west late tonight. Light accumulations may produce limited impacts for areas west of the Hwy 65 corridor. Periods of rain, freezing rain, sleet, and snow will be possible from Wednesday through Friday evening. Forecast certainty is low at this time regarding exact timing, type, and amount of precipitation. However, roads are expected to become slippery at times. Plan for hazardous travel.

Travel Issues

- Snow is expected as early as 8:00 AM to 9:00 AM Wednesday with light accumulations.
- Precipitation may change over to rain and/or a mix between 11:00 AM and 4:00 PM as temperatures fluctuate.
- As air temperatures drop below freezing Wednesday evening, road temperatures may also rapidly drop below freezing.
- Total snow accumulation for the event is expected to be approximately 1 to 2 inches with minor ice accumulations of 0.01 to 0.02 inches.

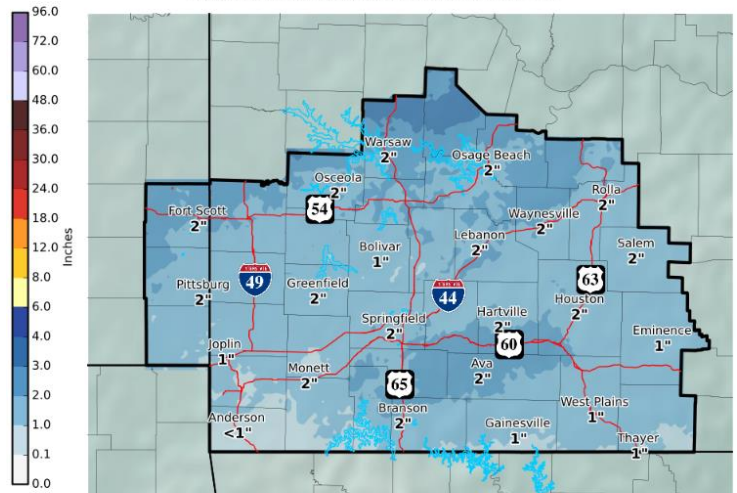

Preparedness Considerations

Consider a winter storm kit for your car. Winterize your vehicle. Pay close attention to upcoming weather information. Watch for social media posts from OEM and affiliated partners.
