Discussion:

Gusty southerly winds will develop today ahead of low pressure moving into Kansas. Gusts of 30 to 45 mph will be possible with the strongest winds expected over southeast Kansas and western Missouri. Dry conditions combined with these gusty winds will lead to elevated fire weather conditions today. A cold front will move southeast into the area this evening into tonight. This front will be the focus for thunderstorms at times with some severe storms possible with large hail to 1.5 inches in diameter, damaging winds to 60 mph and an isolated tornado being the main concerns.

Citizen Action Statement:

- Have a severe weather shelter plan! Review emergency kit and identify closest safe shelter.
- Have a way of receiving severe weather warnings (NOAA Weather Radio, social media, news media, etc.)
- Take shelter when lightning is in the area!
"When thunder roars...go indoors!"
- Citizens with outdoor recreational plans along area rivers and streams should be alert for the potential for lightning strikes and rapidly rising water levels.
"Turn around...don't drown!"
